The $150,000 campaign will allow the Lincoln Theatre to purchase and install:

- Stage microphones & cabling
- Line array speakers hung from the ceiling
- Digital mixing console
- Wireless microphone system for up to 30 stage performers
- Hearing loop to transmit sound to hearing aids, cochlear implants and wireless receiving units

In the Art Bar: Jeff Whidden

A middle school art teacher by day, Jeff Whidden enjoys capturing fleeting moments in nature with his camera. His passion for surreal, abstract and impressionist art influence his approach to photography and are expressed in a series of images taken on the slopes of Little Mountain, right here in Mount Vernon. With the intent to encourage daydreaming, he is calling the series "Imagining Little Mountain." Except for some manipulation of color, these pictures are pretty much straight out of the camera.
